

Tom Sawyer For Ohio State Board of Education

Renowned Biologist Ken Miller to Give Lectures in Kent and Akron Friday Miller Will Speak About the Importance of Ohio's State Board of Education Races

Akron, OH – Brown University biology professor Ken Miller will give lectures in Kent and Akron tomorrow in support of Tom Sawyer's candidacy for State Board of Education (District 7). Dr. Miller is the author of Finding Darwin's God, which explores the common ground between faith and science.

In his lecture, entitled “Science, God, and Intelligent Design: Why All These Matter in Ohio's School Board Elections”, Dr. Miller will apply the principles of Finding Darwin's God to the upcoming state school board elections.

Former Congressman and Akron Mayor Tom Sawyer is running for the state school board to ensure strong scientific standards, lead the effort to solve the state's school funding crisis, and demand that charter (community) schools be fully accountable. Mr. Sawyer will accompany Dr. Miller tomorrow and is available to the press.

Friday, October 27

Kent State University

What: Ken Miller lecture

Where: KSU Student Union, Room 310
Intersection of Summit Street and Campus Center Drive

When: 4 p.m.

The University of Akron

What: Ken Miller lecture

Where: Zook Hall, Room 110
Zook Hall is located just north of the new Student Union (the union is on Carroll Street)

When: 7 p.m.